Head to The Rocks for a truly home-grown Australia Day with nine hours of free live music from more than 50 singers and songwriters from around the country.

Dance your way around three open-air stages as some of Australia's best musicians bring pop, rock, funk, soul, folk and blues to The Rocks.

As music spills from historic laneways, squares, harbour promenades and parks, settle in with your family and friends and enjoy performances from Archie Roach, Blue King Brown, Cat Empire's Harry James Angus, Rescue Ships, Steve Smyth, Busby Marou, Emma Louise, and many more.

Soak up classics on the cobblestones, relax on the waterfront with acoustic and folk music; bring the kids to their own special sing-a-long, catch choirs singing in the lanes, and take a breather in the new chill-out area in First Fleet Park.

With all this free alongside The Rocks Markets and a host of historic pubs, cafes and restaurants where you can grab a bite to eat or a drink, Sydney's heritage village is a fantastic place to celebrate Australia Day.
